Our Message

Alpha Spectra has manufactured over 150,000 detectors in becoming the world's second largest producer of NaI(Tl) scintillation crystals. We are proud of the manner in which our staff has worked together in developing a technology-based company with world class expertise.

Alpha Spectra, Inc. is the only American-owned company in the industry that has its own purification and growth processes. Our manufacturing process begins with exceptionally clean starting material. This material is processed using a growth technique that has been developed in house. Our high-quality detectors are assembled utilizing techniques that have been developed with over 100 years of combined working expertise.

Contact Alpha Spectra, Inc for your Scintillation detector requirements and be assured that you will get personal attention.
